

From our Executive Director, Clancy Cruise

OK let's admit it, California is cool! It's cool to be able to come out here to connect and celebrate our love for God and our rebirth in Jesus Christ with our brothers and sisters in the west. Special thanks to the Auburn Grace church family for their hospitality and months of preparation for our arrival.

We are family! Let's remember that each of us joined this family for our own special reasons. For me, it was in Grace Seminary when I witnessed the deeply biblical approach to relationships, church life and evangelism. I'm thankful for our fellowship for living out biblical convictions regarding loving one another, challenging one another, and doing mission as a family. This week is an opportunity to renew our minds in that respect. Why did YOU join this family? What makes this family YOUR family? I hope you will take the time to truly give thanks for this unique family we all enjoy. Be intentional and make new friends while connecting with old friends! Maybe there is someone you've always wanted to talk to you and get to know better. It's on you! Do it! Say hi and introduce yourself to someone new and start a conversation.

I want to say thank you for allowing me the privilege of traveling around the country multiple times and getting to know our pastors and churches. We have a lot to offer as a Fellowship. The big challenge is; in a world more desperate than ever and darkened by sin and death will we work together to offer what we have to a watching world? I believe that the efforts we have put forth to clarify our mission and vision have been worth it. There are still several difficult steps to take as we figure out how to express ourselves biblically, culturally, practically, and socially! Will we cave into the ways of the world and a weak hermeneutic influenced by a culture turned away from God, or will we stay biblical, loving and Christlike? Strong in our commitment to biblical truth, biblical mission and biblical relationships? I believe we will work together and stay strong in the Word and strong in love.

The theme of our Focus Retreats has been Forward.

I believe we can move forward because of our great God, his powerful Word, our clear identity in Christ, and our identity as a fellowship now made clear through very strong written statements. More strong statements are coming, and I ask for your patience and your participation. I know that you will be proud of the work that we do together as we work together and stick together. We are all learning a new dance together and sometimes we step on each other's toes but in the end, we will know who our true partners are and who we can go forward with. Forward! Let's look in that direction and push that way together.

Thank you for taking the time and expense to travel out here to the great state of California. Thank you to our brothers and sisters who have made us feel so welcome. Don't miss what God has for you here.

Open your eyes, open your heart, open your mouth in positive, redemptive conversations but also open your hands and receive a great week from the Lord. I'm excited to get started.

It's great to see you all!

Clancy

2019 Report of the Social Concerns Committee of the Charis Fellowship

“Do justice, love mercy, walk humbly with your God.” (Micah 6:8)

The Social Concerns Committee was established by the Annual Conference of the Fellowship of Grace Brethren Churches in 1985. It was the successor committee to the Sanctity of Life Committee. Its new title reflected the goal of addressing more societal issues than simply “right to life” issues.

The primary task of the Social Concerns Committee, as expressed in the Manual of Procedure, is to prepare resolutions to present to the annual business meeting (gathering of delegates) of the Fellowship.

In addition, the committee is available to churches and pastors and other individuals within our Fellowship to discuss social concerns issues that arise in various states and localities. We invite members of the Charis Fellowship to use us as a resource at any time and on any relevant subject.

The committee has also sent regular electronic communications to Charis Fellowship churches and leaders on a variety of social concerns matters.

A personal note: It has been my great privilege to serve on this committee and to be its chairman since 1985. I have decided the time has come for me to step away from these roles and for the committee to move forward under new leadership. I deeply appreciate all the support I have had over the years from the Fellowship in general, and specifically from the Fellowship Council, the various Executive Directors I have served under, and especially from fellow committee members. It is a ministry I have been honored to have and its work has been my deep passion.

Please support this committee whole-heartedly in the years to come.

For the Social Concerns Committee,
Donald Shoemaker, Chairman

Committee Members: Mark Abel, Mark Combs, Scott Henry, Mike Jentes, Kathryn MacMillan, Rich Schnieders, John Teevan (special thanks to former committee member Jesús Muñoz)

Resolutions Proposed to the 2019 Business Session of the Charis Fellowship
Prepared by the Charis Fellowship Social Concerns Committee

Human Life—Its Dignity and Duties

Whereas God is the creator of the heavens and the earth and all it contains (Genesis 1:1; Psalm 24:1); and

Whereas God created humanity as his highest creation, making humanity alone in his image and after his likeness (Genesis 1:26; Psalm 8); and

Whereas God created man as male and female, both as bearers of his image (Genesis 1:27); and

Whereas the woman was made from the man, she alone being equal to him yet different from him, to complete the duality of human existence and make marital union possible (Genesis 2:18-23); and

Whereas God appointed mankind as stewards over creation (Genesis 1:26, 28; Psalm 8:6-8); and

Whereas God chose Israel, the object of his love and protection, to be his special people and a blessing to the whole world (Genesis 12:1-3; 17:7-8; Amos 3:1-2; Zechariah 2:7; Romans 9:4-5; 11:28-29); and

Whereas human sinfulness deeply afflicts our relationship to God and to one another (including how men and women, parents and children, rich and poor, strong and weak, and people of differing races relate to each other) and also afflicts our understanding of ourselves (who we are as human beings), tempting us to define ourselves in subjective humanistic ways rather than according to our creator's design (Genesis 3:16; 6:5; 8:21; Romans 1:18-32; 3:10-18);

We therefore affirm several ethical implications of these biblical truths:

1. All human life (including the unborn, those with mental and physical infirmities and those who are terminally ill) is precious and worthy of our protection and care.
2. The loss of any human life by the actions of another is tragic. Nonetheless, taking human life is justifiable in narrow circumstances such as self-defense or defense of others (whether exercised by an individual or by the magistrate). Yet even this is tragic, for God himself takes no pleasure in the death of the wicked (Ezekiel 33:11).
3. Abortion as practiced in the United States and many other countries is abhorrent to God and an assault on human dignity. Its practice is to be opposed legally and morally and ministries of care for the mother and child must be developed and offered. Of special concern is new legislation that allows abortion up to the moment of birth. Adoption is always an honorable alternative to abortion. Men and women must avoid sexual sin and both must take responsibility for its consequences.

4. Assisted suicide is an illegitimate response to human suffering toward the end of life. Instead, ministries of care, support and pain management are to be offered to the dying. Assisted suicide for those suffering a terminal illness will easily be rationalized to justify suicide for other reasons and to justify taking human life without consent.

5. The Word of God justifies capital punishment as a proper judgment against those who commit premeditated murder. Rather than being a violation of our creation in the image of God, capital punishment is actually based on this truth (Genesis 9:6). However, the actual practice of capital punishment must be by legitimate authorities and must rest on equity and sufficient evidence and always be seriously judged by biblical standards.

6. To serve human needs we must declare and practice "the true fast" of Isaiah 58—do not exploit workers, do not engage in quarreling and malicious talk, loose the chains of injustice, set the oppressed free, feed the hungry, shelter the poor, clothe the naked, service the needy, defend the defenseless.

7. We call for opposition to all forms of human trafficking, especially sexual exploitation, and abuse against immigrants. Families should be kept intact as much as possible.

8. Support and justice must be extended toward all who are abused or sexually assaulted, especially in situations of subjugation or fear. Protections and an atmosphere supporting honest disclosures are vital. Sexual assault under the guise of religious or secular positions is especially offensive to God and should be to us.

9. Christians must never forget the historical sufferings of the Jewish people and must express alarm at increases in anti-Semitism in our own day and nation. We must be bold in expressing our love for the Jewish people and our repentance for wrongs in the past. We must stand up and be counted and call for actions against anti-Semitism.

10. Marriage is foremost an establishment by God, not an institution of man. Marriage is a union between a man and a woman, sealed in the covenant sign of sexual union. Sexual relationships are appropriate within marriage only. Marriage is God's plan for birthing and raising children in a loving, supportive home. God intends that marriage be a life-long covenant not "put asunder" by man.

11. People may choose to live honorably before God in singleness, as exemplified by many biblical personalities including Jesus and the Apostle Paul. This choice may lead to greater undistracted service to God. It may also open avenues of temptation that must be resisted.

12. "Gender identity" needs to be understood by fair analysis of data and by listening to those who do not identify themselves by conventional male/female categories. However, our ultimate directives come not from social constructions but from biblical understandings. God created human beings as either male or female. Departures from this understanding, whether due to dysfunction or choice, are not the plan of God. Our society must be careful not to coerce people and institutions (including churches) that do not support current expansion of gender identity rights. Boys and girls (and their parents) have a right to privacy and safety and to fair instruction on this subject that is not agenda driven.

13. Human governments are established by God for promotion of justice and punishment of evil and for the peace and safety of their citizens. Governments exist to further the wellbeing of all, not to accumulate power and wealth into the hands of the rulers and the privileged at the expense of subjects. Governments should enhance human flourishing and liberty, not repress these in any way. Governments must protect freedom of religion. Christians should pray for all who are in authority and be open to participate in government through voting, influence and service as much as is ethically possible.

14. America's prisons are often places of bureaucracy and neglect that assault the human dignity of prisoners while failing to truly reform them. Prison reform must include fitting punishment that makes victims whole, plus training that enable willing prisoners to return to society and live constructive lives. Those who have paid their debt to society should have a process to accrue citizen rights once again, including the right to vote.

15. Civility in speech and good conduct toward others who are in God's likeness are our duties. Our communications with one another must be consistent with loving our neighbor as ourselves. Civility must begin at the highest levels of government—the president and the Congress in America—and continue to all other levels. Civility must avoid the ad hominem attacks on opponents that have become so much a part of today's charged political climate. Civil communication must characterize all "social media" and Christians especially must not communicate with gossipy, malicious, or oppressive words in their use of social media.

16. Humanity must understand "dominion over creation" not as ownership but as stewardship. We must also recognize God is infinite and creation is finite. To consume creation's resources as if they are infinite is a form of idolatry. We are free to use and enjoy creation, not to misuse it or deny future generations its enjoyment. In our quest to be good stewards of creation, we must always and only worship God the Creator and never deify or worship creation in any way.

17. Since God created the entire human race, his "Common Grace" flows to all people. Common Grace is seen in the benevolence of creation, a basic sense of right and wrong given to all, institutions such as family and good government, wholesome human achievements and enjoyments, and in other positive features of human existence. Christians are able to work with non-believers to expand the benefits of common grace.

Governmental Responsibility

Governments must operate with a strong sense of integrity and faithfulness to the laws of the nation. They must honor their commitments to their citizens by fulfilling their basic duties, controlling entitlements and spending, and avoiding immense deficits that will burden future generations.

We warn our government against yielding to the passion for an ever-broader expansion of rights that are popular at the moment but are not wise or good for the long-range health of the nation.

Religious Freedom

We strongly support religious liberty in America and around the world as we look with alarm at the deterioration of this freedom, especially as it is repressed in countries like China but even incrementally in the United States. We support:

- Genuine freedom of religion for all, not to be reduced to “freedom of worship.”
- The free exercise of religion, not to be reduced to the right to believe as you choose.
- Freedom of religion for all religious organizations, not merely “houses of worship.” This includes the right to employ people who adhere to the doctrines and morals of the church or religious organization.
- Freedom for people to live out their religious convictions in public and in their workplaces and not be harassed and penalized by adverse governmental action.

Immigration Reform

America has been a land of immigrants since before the nation was founded. Between the extremes of nativism and open borders, most citizens have open arms toward immigrants but also see the rule of law and secure borders as essential for a safe and civil society. Today our nation and our churches are increasingly populated by people from a multitude of cultures and lands, and many of these people are undocumented.

How can our Charis Fellowship respond?

1. We call on our churches to give prayer, thought, discussion, and action toward addressing the problem of the undocumented immigrant in a God-honoring way.
2. We recognize the divisive and controversial nature of this debate, and we encourage dialogue in the churches that is respectful, open-minded, and solution focused.
3. We further call on our churches to be the “reconciling presence of Christ” in the midst of a broken system that creates rancor, resentment, racism, selfishness, fear, exploitation, danger, and disregard for the law.
4. We call on our society and elected leaders to rise above political posturing and rancor to work toward a solution on immigration that is compassionate and realistic—a solution that accomplishes the government’s responsibility to protect its citizens and guests, while at the same time provides relief to the oppressed.

5. We recognize that meaningful solutions to this problem are not easily reached and must come through a determined will to achieve them. We deplore the present situation when our Federal Government is unable to resolve key immigration issues year after year.

6. We also recognize that the United States cannot accommodate everyone who desires to come to this country. Correcting the situations that force many to flee their home countries is one way to reduce the number attempting to gain entry into the United States.

7. We also call on the Federal Government to be wise in its use of Foreign Aid to aid in reforming situations in those foreign countries.

It's been a very busy year since Access2018 in Fremont, OH. Personally, I've logged over 21,000 miles of travel to Focus Retreats, local churches, ministerial meetings and visits to our chaplains. I've been encouraged to learn of the tremendous love, appreciation and interest in the ministry of our chaplains and their families and their appreciation across our Fellowship.

Key events this year include:

- Reassignments. Army Chaplain Jim Murray (Grace Church, Aiken, SC) to U.S. Soldier Support Institute, Ft Jackson, SC; Army Chaplain Carl (Deanna) Phillips from Germany to Fort Belvoir, MD; Army Chaplain David (Whitney) Mvondo from Germany to Fort Benning, GA; Chaplain Charles (Ada) Pridgen from Fort Stewart, GA to Fort Eustis, VA; Chaplain Jonas (Lisa) Winbolt intrapost move from an Engineer Battalion to Field Artillery.
- Deployments. Army Chaplain Charles ("Chuck") Pridgen (Community GBC, Warsaw, IN) returned in late April from a 9-month deployment, primarily in Kuwait; Army Chaplain Cameron Michael (Grace Community Church, Fremont, OH) and Army Reserve Chaplain Jeremy Pfeister (Grace Church of Greater Akron, Norton, OH) both deployed in June 2019 to the Middle East.
- Promotions. Army Chaplains Billy Graham (Warsaw Community GBC, Warsaw) promoted to Lieutenant Colonel and Carl Phillips (Brighton Chapel Brethren Church, Howe, IN) was selected for promotion to Lieutenant Colonel. Navy Chaplain Justin Hayes (Winona Lake Grace, Winona Lake, IN) was selected for promotion to Lieutenant Commander.
- New Endorsements. Army Reserve Chaplain Candidates Tim Clay (Community of Hope, Columbia City, IN) and Isaac Anderson (Grace Fellowship – Upper Arlington campus, OH).
- Gains. Army Reserve Chaplain Candidate Dan Rosenberg (Community GBC, Warsaw, IN) to the Air Force Reserve as Chaplain.
- Losses to military retirement. Army Chaplain James Schaefer (retirement); Army Chaplain Richard Hurst (Grace Brethren Church, Colorado Springs, CO) and Army Reserve Chaplain John Arnoldbik (formerly of Grace Community Church, Seal Beach, CA).
- Pending loss (change of endorsement). Air Force Reserve Chaplain J.P. Prado (Grace Community Church, Seal Beach, CA).

The Eagle Commission was blessed with solid giving in 2018. Donations increased 40% over the previous year. Still the Eagle Commission remains dependent of a generous subsidy from GBIF to meet its expenses. Since summer 2017, we have intentionally been linking costs to a strategic goal and vision to increase awareness across our Fellowship. I believe that as a Fellowship, we have a God-given opportunity to send our best young pastors and commission them as Christ's ambassadors to the almost 2 MILLION men and women who wear our nation's uniform. If we send them, we also have the responsibility to maintain connections and prayer teams for them and their families.

Finally, I ask for your prayers and regular intercession for our chaplains. We continue to have our chaplains deployed almost continually since 2003. As a Fellowship, we must sustain them as they fulfill the divine calling and always in the Lord's protection. Both they and their families face challenges that are unique compared to local church ministry. I also strongly urge all supporters and pastors to pray fervently for new men from our fellowship who will serve as chaplains. The military will accession chaplains --- we can decide if we want to be part of God's Great Commission and those who love Jesus and will boldly proclaim the Gospel.

On mission! By grace!
